

We have discovered that there are errors in the two- and three-year yield averages in the Soybean Performance Tests- 2008 that was posted here previously. We are working to correct the problem and will post an edited report as soon as possible. We believe there are no errors in the 2008 yields or agronomic data. The 2008 yields can be accessed by clicking on “Yields 2008” on the soybean page of the web site <http://www.arkansasvarietytesting.org>.

We regret any problems that this may cause.